How's the weather and how to dress in Iceland?

You can expect all kinds of weather when staying in our land of ice and snow where the midnight sun and hot springs flow.

The weather changes fast in Iceland, please visit <https://en.vedur.is/>

You may be wondering what the weather will be like when you visit. The truth is that in Iceland, whatever the time of the year, you can, and should, expect all seasons in one trip. Perhaps even in one day! The important thing is to remember to dress in layers. Please remember we plan to walk to the new lava, we do not recommend high heels and stockings doing that. Umbrellas are also useless for this purpose.

Those who are interested should bring a swimsuit and a towel for visiting our fantastic, warm outdoors swimming pools and spas. Some of them are also open in the early morning and evenings. Icelandic swimming pools are famous for their hot tubs and steam baths. Swimming pool closest to the hotel is <https://reykjavik.is/sundholl-reykjavikur> 1100 ISK.

A crash course in Icelandic

Góðan daginn / good morning

Gott kvöld / good evening

Takk fyrir / thank you

Það er blessuð blíðan / what a lovely weather it is today

Sjáumst / see you later

Sjáumst á morgun / see you tomorrow

Viltu hjálpa mér? / can you help me please?

Get ég fengið reikninginn? / can I get the bill?
